Sponsored walk in aid of TTP Education & Research and related platelet disorders

Name of Walker: ..... Please sponsor me to take part thanks!

Thrombotic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (TTP) is a rare blood disorder, with between 1.2 to 11 new cases every year per million of the population. TTP episodes are life threatening and considered a medical emergency. TTP is a lifelong condition, as after initial diagnosis, many patients will experience further episodes. Your contribution today however small or large will help research into TTP and increase awareness of this condition.

If you are a UK taxpayer, please tick the Gift Aid box as it means we can claim back 25% tax paid on donations. By ticking the Gift Aid box, you understand that if you pay less income tax and/or capital gains tax in the current tax year than the amount of Gift Aid claimed it is your responsibility to pay any difference. Thank You.
